Eastern Sierra, CA—Join the Hispanic Community Dance, Saturday, March 23, at the Tri-County Fairgrounds, and enjoy the sounds of Mexico and South America, without leaving the state. Doors open (Las puertas se abren) at 6 p.m. The Hispanic Community Dance is in the Charles Brown Building, and there will be food trucks, a bar, and other treats for concert goers.

Chris Flores, CF Music Promoter, from Mammoth Lakes, CA, says he’s interested in bringing more Hispanic music to the area, and this is his second event at the Tri-County Fairgrounds. Flores is showcasing two big bands, bandas, and other musical artists, and he hopes to get people of all ages, at what he calls “family concerts.” He’s also looking into getting a rodeo going, along with “bringing more Spanish music to the community.” His goal is to have an event every month, and he’s starting the music headliners with some big names in Mexican music.

Banda Los Montoya desde (from) Sinaloa

Banda Los Montoya started in September of 2017, and they are from Gramuchil, Sinaloa, Mexico. The Montoya brothers, Charly, Alonso, Joel, and Ramón, are the creators of a large (15 members) band, and they play music, corridos and rancheras, as their signature sounds. Corridos (ballads and story songs; some say it’s poetry in music form) and rancheras (folk music, mariachi traditional Mexican sounds) are regional music forms, and the band has all the right instruments to create the big sounds. Their lyrics have been said to be memorable, keeping traditional Mexican music alive. Their big band features lively and energizing songs, bringing everyone out to dance.

Los Cadetes de Emilio Garza is another ensemble highlighting the music of Norteño, and they were formed in 1960, in the city of Linares, Nuevo León. Garza is known for his work at Ramex Records, and this ensemble is well-known in the Hispanic community. The singers bring traditional songs to life with a variety of popular songs from different regions in Mexico.

El Tukaz is a Sierreño / Norteño group, and their dance music features corridos, as well as other popular traditional songs, and disco tunes. El Tukaz is a fan favorite online / streaming tunes, and many of their top songs are recent, and from en vivo (live) dances and concerts.

Instrumentos / Instruments of the Latino Sound

The big bands offer something many of us don’t get a chance to see too often, and that’s the large selection of musical instruments involved in creating the Latino sounds. Look for: El acordeón (accordion); La guitarra (guitar); El charango (small guitar); La bateria (drums); El saxofón (saxophone); instrumentos de latón (brass instruments), like El trompeta (trumpet) and tuba, and some percussion instruments, such as the castanets, tambori, and congas.

Bill Schuck's Quartet honors the Land of Lost Borders 2024

By Christina Reed
The Hired Pen

Bishop, CA-- In an ode to Mary Austin's world of writing, and a landscape with lost borders and boundaries, the Bill Schuck Quartet will perform on Sunday, March 10, at 3 p.m., at the Bishop First United Methodist Church's Sanctuary, in Bishop, CA.

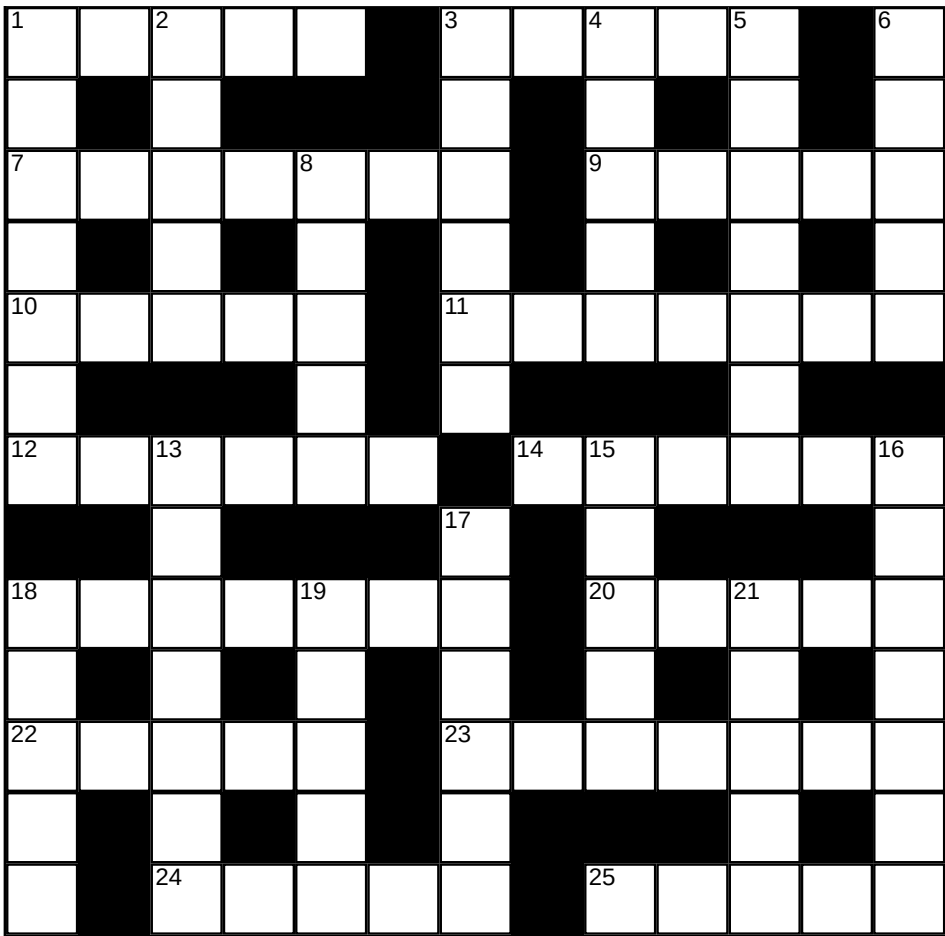

This first concert of the year highlights the original compositions of Bill Schuck, and he's sharing five compositions in the first set called, The Suite: To the Land of Lost Borders. "I Can Dance," highlights singer Evonne Mills; "If You're There" has lyrics set by poet and educator, Eva-Poole Gilson; "Autumn Sunlight" was co-written with Germaine Franco; "The Stillness of Winter So Still My Heart," and "Walkin' in the Rain," with Ryan Mills on the vibraphone for this composition.

The second set allows for visitors to pick tunes out of a hat, from a play list, and this idea for a variety of songs was popular at previous concerts, Schuck notes.

There will be an intermission, catered by the Ladies of the First United Methodist Church, and this gives everyone a chance to stretch their legs and do a little visiting with community members.

The Bill Schuck Quartet's concerts have been a great success, and these music events have helped raise monies for the church's roof repair. Schuck says the roof project is almost funded.
